

Punctuation:

colons and semi-colons

Colons

Colons ( : ) are used:

- Before a list of words, phrases or clauses.

In front of him were the following: mince pies, holly and other delicious delights.

In this example the items in the list are separated by commas.

Remember:

you do not put a comma before the word and.

Semi-colons

If the items in the list are longer than one or two words separate them with a semi-colon.

The attractions of the park included: a new roundabout; a short pony ride; a long slide and an ice-cream stall.

Colons

Colons and semi-colons are also used in a bulleted list.

Equipment required for PE:

- Shorts;
- T-shirt;
- Pumps.

A full stop is used at the end because it is the end of the sentence.

Colons

A colon is also used to introduce an explanation/definition:

- Connective: a word used to join two parts of a sentence;
- Adjective: a word which describes a noun;
- Elephant: a large grey mammal.

Colons

A colon is also used to add emphasis:

There's only one word I can use to describe Butterflies: fabulous.

Semi-colons

Semi-colons can be used to join clauses in a sentence. Sometimes they take the place of connectives.

John liked jelly and Sam just loved ice cream.

This sentence could be written:

It was a dark night and the moon hid behind a cloud.

It was a dark night; the moon hid behind a cloud.

Recap

Colons:

- introduce a list;
- introduce an explanation or definition;
- to add emphasis.

Semi-colons:

- separate longer items in a list;
- link two clauses which are closely related;
- act as connectives between two clauses of equal weight.
