

Take a Virtual Train Ride

The famous Bernina train isn't the only virtual train ride to take either. These virtual experiences can be taken all over the world, including England, Peru, Japan, Norway, and even the Arctic Circle!

Norway	To travel through the gorgeous lands of Norway — past mountains, farms, and more stunning scenery —, which takes travelers through the snowy Trondheim Fjord and passes through the Arctic Circle. At least you'll be cozy and warm at home on this ride!	take a ride on The Flam Railway Or, embark on the Nordland Line .
Montenegro	home to the world's longest tunnel. It clocks in at 20,246 feet.	Belgrade-Bar Railway trip
Bosnia & Herzegovina (and Croatia too)	For a train ride along a river, and through mountains	Sarajevo-Ploce Railway .
England and Wales	On a diesel train that travels through beautiful countryside and along the coast with the North Wales Alternatively, explore the city of London and the surrounding countryside	Coast Line . South Western Railway .
Japan	Discover the mountains and countryside of Japan's Chugoku region	Geibi and Fukuen Lines .
Peru	From crossing over an enormous bridge, to traveling through a canyon, this trip has a little bit of everything.	the Ferrocarril Central Andino virtual train ride
United States	If you're missing the sounds of a commute For a mountain adventure visit historic mountain towns from Durango to Silverton	New York ride! Pikes Peak Cog Railway in Colorado in Colorado ;

These “family trips” can even turn into learning experiences. After we “rode” the Bernina Railway for a while, my youngest had SO many questions about Europe and where we “went” on the map.

